

In September of 2007 Team Fly Boys journeyed in search of a specific strain of wild steelhead. These steelhead were believed to feed on Green Drakes during a hatch. "Raising the Ghost" documents the Fly Boys team as they experienced a week of searching, hoping, and eventually catching wild steelhead on dead drift dry flies.

- "Raising the Ghost" captures the spirit and passion of the steelhead angling experience, while weaving an important conservation message to the plight of wild steelhead."
